

I am writing in support and in encouragement of the expansion of Low-Powered FM radio. It is an incredible asset to local communities, both in reporting local events and in providing a job-skill training for community members as well as a venue for community members to have their voices heard. This day and age it is imperative to have choices of media beyond viacom and clear channel, which are increasingly one-sided, narrow-minded, and over-commercialized. In supporting LPFM I am allowing my community a real choice in broadcasting. Thank You.
